Murray Prepares New Criminal Calendar For County Court Session

First on List are Cases of Bentley, Donlon and Runk, Woodstock Youths, Who Allegedly Wrecked Summer Home.

WEEKS IS NO. 13

Lamey Burglary Case Is Near Head of Calendar; Floyd Weeks Case Is Listed.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray has prepared a criminal calendar which will be taken up for disposition in County Court before Judge Frederick G. Traver next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

On the calendar are several important criminal matters. First on the list are the charges against Harry M. Bentley, James T. Donlon and George Runk, the three young men who are alleged to have entered a Woodstock summer home and practically wrecked it after they had engaged in a drinking bout prompted by the fact that one of the trio had stolen a keg of beer from a truck earlier in the day.

Also near the head of the calendar is the John M. Lamey action. Lamey is the man who is charged with entering the law offices of former County Judge Joseph M. Fowler and C. S. Commissioner Arthur G. Connolly one noon hour and robbing the safe of a small amount of money and bonds. Lamey is wanted in California for entering the court house in one of the county seats and robbing the county auditor's office.

Dixon Ufer and Samuel Michael O'Rourke also appear on the calendar. These are the two youths who were sentenced to Dannemora by Supreme Court Justice Staley following a jail break here several years ago. The lads were sentenced to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora for a term of from 10 to 15 years on a plea of guilty. At the time Justice Staley sentenced them after they pleaded guilty to an indictment which charged robbery, first degree grand larceny and assault. After the youths had served about four years they sought release from prison on a writ of habeas corpus claiming that they had pleaded guilty only to assault and that the sentence imposed by the court was excessive for that charge.

Brought back after the county judge of Clinton county had remanded them to the custody of the sheriff of Ulster county for further action of the supreme court, Justice Staley held a special court and at that time gave them an opportunity to admit they had pleaded guilty to the indictment charging robbery. This they refused to do and stated that they intended to plead only to assault. When they continued to stick to that story they were remanded to jail and will now have to face the more serious charge of robbery. Had they admitted that their former plea had been for robbery as indicated, they would have served only two to three years more, and with time off for good behavior, they would have been out of prison.

Judge Staley stated in open court that in imposing the 10 to 15 year sentence he had taken into consideration the other charges and it had been implied that the term would extinguish the other charges. It will be possible for the court now to impose a long term on the robbery charge on the lads admit their plea was only to assault.

Ufer and O'Rourke were in jail awaiting grand jury action on a burglary charge when they with Samuel Klein, nationally known criminal, attempted a jail break. They assaulted the jailer and were overpowered at Bloomingville by officers and Klein was shot in an attempt to make a break. The two lads were recaptured and later indicted for the jail break.

Floyd Weeks, charged with attempting to murder his uncle by putting poison in a bottle of liquor, appears to be case No. 12 on the calendar. Weeks, a cripple, is out on bail.

Choice for County Attorney

Lack of Business May Result in Reduction Of Trial Terms Here

County Judge Frederick G. Traver sounded a warning to attorneys of Ulster county Monday afternoon at the opening of county court when he cautioned them that if the present inactivity on the part of attorneys continued, in all probability one of the terms of supreme court would be removed from Ulster county in order to reduce expenses. For the past several terms both in supreme and in county court there had been comparatively little trial work. This lack of business, although there are many cases on the trial calendar, Judge Traver said had caused already some consideration to be given to the question of whether it would not be wise to reduce the number of trial terms from four to three.

The continued lack of interest in trying cases in supreme court has caused some talk about a reduction of the number of trial terms among justices of the supreme court of this district. It has not been an uncommon thing to have several days go past with no cases ready for trial. Justices assigned to this county have frequently warned attorneys that unless some work is presented to keep the term busy they would adjourn the term as a repeated bringing back of a jury costs the taxpayers money. In many instances the first week of a trial term produces nothing. Justice Foster was faced with that situation in December.

At present there are four terms of supreme court each year and four terms of county court. Supreme court is held in January, April, June and September. Justice Foster in December stated that apparently no attorney desired to try cases in December before the supreme court and he suggested that a change be made by eliminating the December term and holding a term after the first of the year. Judge Traver's warning Monday indicated that the matter had gone beyond the point of suggesting a change in the time of holding the winter term and had reached the point where the elimination of one term of the court was under advisement.

A change in the rules governing the trial of actions in supreme court in this county was made some time ago with the idea of speeding trials and reducing the number of cases on the calendar. However, the calendar at the present time has not been greatly reduced and the few number of cases disposed of at the December term due to the failure of attorneys to try cases during the first week in the term will probably be productive of a larger calendar in March.

Speaker Ives Places Conway On Important Assembly Committees

In announcing Assembly committee appointments Monday night, Speaker Ives named J. Edward Conway of Kingston, Republican, as a member of the important judicial committee, the transportation committee and the committee on internal affairs and insurance. The chairman of the transportation committee is Leonard W. Hall of Hudson county, who was State Chairman Edwin C. Eaton's choice for chairman of the transportation committee.

Selection of Moffat to Assembly Post Causes Trouble in G.O.P. Ranks

State Chairman Eaton Again Under Fire of Edwin F. Jaekle, as Subservient to Metropolitan Self-Seekers.

CLASSED AS LIBERAL

Abbot Low Moffat Has Served Seven Years on Ways and Means Committee.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 7 (AP).—The selection of Assemblyman Abbot Low Moffat of New York city to a key post in the Assembly of the New York legislature provoked today a new assault from within the Republican party on the leadership of State Chairman Melvin C. Eaton.

Speaker Irving M. Ives last night named Moffat, one of Greater New York's two Republican Assemblymen, as chairman of the powerful ways and means committee, seeking by direct compromise to end the schism that has plagued Republican ranks for weeks.

Hardly had the appointment been read to a tense house when the persistent Erie county chairman, Edwin F. Jaekle, long at odds with Eaton, renewed his attack on the state chairman with the statement: "It must be obvious to all Republicans Mr. Eaton has disqualified himself for the chairmanship of the state committee."

Jaekle said that the selection of Moffat "substantiates the charge that Eaton is subservient to self-seeking leaders in the metropolitan district who have used their influence for personal advantage with the result the Republican party in the greater city is thoroughly demoralized."

Moffat a Liberal.

Classed as a Liberal leader who upheld former Republican State Chairman W. Kingsland Macy in his fight two years ago against the Old Guard, Moffat has served seven years on the ways and means committee. He is a former Assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Jaekle was in his fight with Eaton in that he prevented the appointment of Assemblyman Leonard H. Hall, Nassau county, to the post of privilege and influence. The Erie leader had accused the state chairman of attempting to "trade" the chairmanship to Nassau in return for substantial campaign contributions.

Hall, the man whom Jaekle vigorously opposed for the ways and means chairmanship, was selected as head of the reapportionment committee while another Nassau member, Harold P. Herman, received the chairmanship of the committee on mortgage and real estate.

Swartz was selected chairman of the committee on penal institutions and in addition was retained as a member of the ways and means group. Assemblyman James R. Robinson of Tompkins county, who was put forward in some quarters for the ways and means chairmanship on the basis of seniority, was named head of the codes committee, which will be an important post because all crime legislation will go to that group. He is also a member of the ways and means group.

Wadsworth is Chairman. A third aspirant for the ways and means job, James J. Wadsworth of Livingston county, was selected chairman of the committee on public relief and welfare, a high ranking assignment this year inasmuch as that body will consider legislation for an investigation of unemployment relief in the state and establishment of relief administration on a permanent basis.

In addition to Moffat, Robinson and Swartz, the ways and means committee includes Assemblymen Howard N. Allen, Dutchess; John G. Downes, Suffolk; Herbert A. Bartholomew, Washington; D. Mallory Stephens, Putnam; Wilson Messer, Steuben; W. Allan Kereff, St. Lawrence; John S. Thompson, Orleans; H. R. Smith, Westchester; Halney S. Taylor, Orange; Meyer Altman, New York; Michael J. Gillen, Kings; and John J. Killgrew, New York.

Farm Leaders Are Called By Wallace To Replace AAA

AS THE AAA DEATH KNELL SOUNDED

Not stopping to bemoan the death of the administration's farm program at the hands of the Supreme Court, these farm leaders were at the White House today to discuss new legislation as the adverse ruling was handed down. ## Conference Dates Set For January 10-11 For Discussion of Programs

Three Million Farmers Will Be Represented by 70 Leaders, as Control Structure.

RAIL PENSION TEST

Constitutionality of 1935 Rail Pension Laws Challenged Today by 135 Railroads.

Washington, Jan. 7 (AP).—Farm leaders were summoned by the New Deal today to confer on shaping a program to replace the smashed AAA.

Secretary Wallace issued the call for January 10 and 11 after AAA field machinery was brought to a full stop by the 6 to 3 Supreme Court decision which demolished the AAA.

Wallace's brief announcement, first formal comment on the Supreme court's decision:

"Leaders of farm organizations, and other agricultural spokesmen from different parts of the country were invited to Washington by Secretary Wallace today to discuss plans for agriculture in the light of the Supreme Court's decision in the Hoosier Mills case."

"The conference was announced today following consultation by Secretary Wallace and Administrator Chester C. Davis with executives of national farm organizations. It is to be held in Washington on Friday and Saturday, January 10 and 11. About 70 invited."

"About seventy thus far have been invited."

AAA officials declined to amplify this statement.

Already a farm meeting had been planned for next week.

Sponsors of the meeting said 3,000,000 farmers will be represented by leaders of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, the National Cooperative Council, the Farmers' National Grain Corporation and the American Agricultural Editors Association, coming to meet at the National Agricultural Conference.

Chester H. Gray, legislative representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said the national agricultural conference would "discuss every plan that is presented, including the McNary three-way optional proposal—the export devaluation, equalization fee and domestic allotment plan."

Meanwhile Representative Bankhead (D-Ala.), the Democratic leader, forecast AAA's fate for the compulsory cotton program and termed the decision murderous.

Republican Leader McNary of the Senate expressed the belief Congress would "never be able to resurrect an AAA acreage control program."

"Congress can erect a structure, however," McNary added, "that will have a guiding influence on the farmer in the handling of his crops, and I think by making the tariff effective will give him a higher price level."

Two or Three Programs. Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), a member of the Senate agriculture committee, who participated in yesterday's White House strategy conference, said "two or three programs" have been suggested.

"But we have agreed to make no announcement of our discussions," the Senator added, "until the entire field has been explored. It's a big problem. There was a general discussion of the decision at yesterday's conference."

His brother, the House majority leader, told reporters he did not know whether there were any loopholes left by the AAA ruling that would permit remedial or substitute legislation.

"We are going to try mighty hard to find some," he said. "The farmers of the country are not going to take this thing lying down."

State Postal Clerks To Hold Convention In Kingston In May

The United National Association of Post Office Clerks of the State of New York will hold its annual convention in Kingston the latter part of May. It is expected that approximately 200 delegates from all sections of the state will be in attendance at the three days' session.

This is the first that the association has ever held a convention in Kingston and the local association is planning to make the convention one of the most successful in the history of the state organization.

Headquarters for the convention will probably be at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Although the definite date has not been fixed it is planned to hold the convention here the latter part of May. The convention will employ a number of local men and women.

Relief Investigator Found Too Strict

Mrs. Alberta Silverman, vice president of the Metal Workers Federal Local at Ellenville, today told a Freeman reporter that she was happy to announce considerable progress since the labor dispute at the Shell Metal Products Company not so long ago.

Since organized labor has taken a hand, Mrs. Silverman said, workers have been benefited to a great extent and the union members have been active not only in their own line, but have looked after welfare of others. Not long ago, through the arbitration board of which John Cole, a member of the Kingston Central Trades and Labor Council, is an official, the women in the Metal Works received an increase in pay bringing their weekly earnings up from $8 to $12. The men's salaries have been advanced from $12 to an average of $23.

Things are running along harmoniously now, Mrs. Silverman said. The workers are pleased and the company has enough orders to keep them busy for some time to come.

She showed a pamphlet, put out by the union, that carried on an attack against the way WPA work was distributed. It charged that "the relief investigator, Mr. Dick Cameron, gives every applicant and the members of his family the third degree before they are given relief. His arrogance and overbearing attitude are so humiliating that the workers applying for relief prefer to starve to death than to face his Spanish Inquisition."

The pamphlet also charged "that Mr. Budd, our local relief agent, acts as if he were giving the applicant charity out of his own pocket and that he makes sure that they feel that they are not getting what they are justly entitled to, but are receiving charity out of the goodness of Mr. Budd's heart."

Another paragraph in the paper, "The Ellenville Worker," asks "Do you know that when a committee of workers demanded of Mr. Budd that he grant them relief or a little more relief than they had been getting, Mr. Budd called Justice Melvin D. Schoonmaker to his office and Justice Schoonmaker threatened to arrest the workers who protested against the starvation pittance?"

Still another piece asked: "Do you know that only 29 of the unemployed on relief receive relief work?"

Mrs. Silverman said that through the efforts of the union, which got the Unemployment Council to organize on January 2, 21 additional workers have been added to the WPA payroll.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Jan. 6.—The Olive town board held its organization meeting Friday, January 3, at 10 a. m., at Olive Bridge I. O. O. F. Hall. Among the more important matters dispensed with was the appointment of a welfare officer. Ferdinand Reiner, a well known Olive Bridge dairy farmer, was approved by the board among several names proposed. Dr. Henry L. Hibby of Kingston was re-appointed town health officer. Harry T. Brathwaite of Shokan was appointed constable. Further appointments may be made at the next regular monthly meeting. However, a special meeting may be called if deemed advisable by the supervisor, Lemuel E. DuBois.

Jerry Van Kleeck of Tabasco, with his truck, moved Mr. and Mrs. J. Gaylord Ayer's household goods to the parsonage on Wednesday. Mr. Van Kleeck is also supplying the new tenants with firewood.

Judge and Mrs. Henry Winchell of Sunny Cliff Farm made a business trip to Kingston Thursday.

Supervisor and Mrs. Lemuel J. DuBois of Ashokan celebrated New Year's night by attending the movies in Kingston.

Mrs. Edward Avery, Mrs. James Burgher and their Maple Dell guest, Mrs. Blanche Bessrodney, of Tabasco, were afternoon callers at the Davis home Thursday afternoon at West Shokan Heights.

Edward Avery of Maple Dell Farm and Julius Bessrodney were Kingston visitors Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Henriksen and family, who since taking up their residence here two years ago have occupied the Windsor property on Main street, removed Friday into the William V. Colange tenant house opposite Claude Bell's garage, recently vacated by State Forester Carpenter and family.

Supervisor Lemuel E. DuBois of Ashokan was a business caller here on Saturday.

Traveling conditions here Friday morning were extremely hazardous due to the crust of ice which formed as the snowfall of the preceding afternoon melted during the all night downpour.

The West Shokan School reopened Thursday after the holiday vacation. However, due to illness of Mrs. West there was no session on Friday.

Mrs. Blanche Bessrodney and son Julius, returned to their home in Long Island City on Saturday, after having spent New Year's week at Maple Dell Farm.

Peter Crawford of Olive Bridge called on Supervisor Lemuel E. DuBois at his home in Ashokan on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hyde and family of North Main street spent New Year's with her brother, Charles North, at the old Malby Hollow road homestead.

January 2 was a sad reminder of the death four years ago of Lillian Ellen, the winsome four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Davis. Her death was caused by acute appendicitis.

January 3 was the 30th anniversary of the marriage at Prattville of Frederick W. Bishop and Charlotte M. Huggins. The couple are the deceased parents of Donald Olive and Robert Bishop. An elaborate wedding reception was tendered at the home of the groom in the old West Shokan village, on the evening of January 10 following.

Work on the High Point mountain road project continues after a short holiday respite.

The Clydesdale Horse

The Clydesdale horse originated in Scotland. Historical evidence shows that John Paterson, tenant farmer of Lochlyck in the county of Lanark (known as the Clydesdale district), between 1715 and 1720, crossed a Flemish stallion from England on native mares. Importations were first made in large numbers into the United States about 1850-81. Clydesdales are typically bay or brown with four white stockings and a white strip on the face. Breeders emphasize light sticky hair on the back of the legs (called feather), long sloping pasterns, and large, round feet.—Hoard's Dairman

J. P. Morgan (left) and Thomas W. Lament (second from left) headed the list of financial giants as the senate munitions committee reopened its probe of World War activities by U. S. capitalists—this time seeking knowledge of what part actual cash played in America's entry in the conflict. Another financial figure expected to be questioned was Frank Vanderlip (second from right), former president of National City bank. Stephen Raushenbush (right) will appear as the committee's chief investigator. (Associated Press Photos)

We used to waste so much heat the old way, having the fire burning when it was already too warm, so that there may actually be a saving.

Paul Siple to Address Kingston Students

The students of the city are going to have an opportunity to both see and hear Paul Siple, Scout who accompanied both the Bird expedition, when he speaks in Kingston on Wednesday, January 15. Arrangements are being made so that every school principal will have a supply of tickets, which will be available to all students who desire them, at a very small charge.

Mr. Siple will speak before the students at the high school auditorium at 4 o'clock and will tell some of the experiences he had on both of the expeditions to the Antarctic.

All Scouts will be interested to know that Paul Siple joined a scout troop in the city of Fairbanks at 12 years of age and during his membership in the troop held many positions of leadership. He was assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, senior patrol leader, as well as junior assistant scoutmaster and when he became 15 years old was made assistant scoutmaster of the troop. During his membership in the troop he advanced from the rank of Tenderfoot to Eagle and earned some 10 different merit badges. During his experience he also became a scout and advanced through the various ranks of that activity.

Admiral Bird in speaking of the experience that Siple had as a Scout said that Paul Siple went on the first expedition as a Boy Scout and that he took his place as a man. He did his work exceptionally well, his loyalty was unshakable and that was what he valued higher than merit which Paul had. Of more than his share. Students are advised to secure tickets through the principal of their school as quickly as possible.

Mr. Siple will speak at the annual meeting of the Boy Scout Council which will take place in the evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 8 o'clock. This dinner in the evening is open to all parents and friends and anyone interested in this type of work. The topic of Mr. Siple's address will be "Why I Am a Scout" and will be most interesting to all. Reservations for the dinner should be made at once through the office of the Council, 277 Fair street, phone 3875.

KINGSTON CHAPTER, O. E. S., HOLDS INSTALLATION SERVICE.

Kingston Chapter, No. 155, O. E. S., held its annual installation of officers Friday evening, January 3, at the Masonic lodge room, corner of Broadway and the Strand. Before the installation ceremony, Historian Ella Zoller read an interesting account of the activities of the order during the last year. The retiring worthy matron Gertrude Egbertson, gave a farewell address in which she thanked the officers and members for their cooperation during the last year and in which she paid a glowing tribute to her mother for her loving assistance during her daughter's term of office. The officers and members of the fraternal staff presented the degree of "The Hilltop of Starland," during which Miss Egbertson was given the past matron's jewel and a basket of roses—also a gift of money from the chapter.

The installation ceremony was ably conducted by Past A. G. L. William Van Valkenburgh acting as installing officer. Miss Gertrude Egbertson as grand marshal and Past A. G. L. David Boyd as assistant grand marshal. The officers installed for the ensuing year were: Worthy matron Gladys Potter, worthy patron Pearl Carr, associate matron Cornelia Clark, treasurer Mrs. E. A. D. Potter, secretary Mrs. Elphabeth Terwilliger, conductress Edna Horback, associate conductress Selma Levy, warder Margaret Tronbridge, chaplain Freida Penn, marshal Gertrude Egbertson, historian Della Lang, color bearer Matilda Cole, pianist, Patsy Hudler, sentinel George Mains, Adah Vivian, Stact Ruth, Sophie Miller, Esther, Beatrice Spiegel, Martha Ella Zoller, Electa, Jessie Cowley, Wolfenstein, trustee Florence Schoonmaker. The fraternal staff was also installed and each member of the staff was presented with a rose. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presence of Mrs. William Holten, of Rushville, mother of Mrs. Potter, the newly installed matron. Miss Egbertson, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Hardwick, Mrs. Levy, Mrs. Penn and Pearl Carr, were presented with gifts from friends. At the close of the business session refreshments were served and an informal reception was held.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman Wires Harry Hopkins About WPA Checks

Since the inauguration of the Works Progress program in Kingston the men employed on the WPA projects have been held up in receiving their pay checks, which are made out in Albany, and have to wait several weeks before the money is received here. As a result the ERB has been forced to supply the men with food slips so that their families would have food until their pay checks were received.

This condition is not confined to Kingston but is general throughout the state. In Newburgh, according to the Newburgh News, the WPA workers have threatened to strike unless they are paid more promptly.

The situation is such here that Mayor C. J. Heiselman today sent the following telegram to Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, Washington, D. C.: "Your policy of issuing WPA payroll checks semi-monthly and from the Albany office is resulting in confusion, duplication of costs and severe hardship. The same situation exists in every city in New York state. This system cannot be

Crime Fighting Laws Asked By Lehman

The identification and crime prevention bureau and the department of justice would coordinate the anti-crime measures taken in localities and counties, to make more effective the centralization scheme behind the whole program of detection and apprehension.

"This is the time for plain speaking," the governor declared. "The campaign against crime is not a matter for independent action and detached treatment by public and private agencies. If our aims are to be realized it will prove essential to have concerted action and close coordination of all parts of the criminal justice machine."

The governor attributed administrative weaknesses in effective criminal justice to inadequate machinery and inefficient officials, but he told the legislators he would pass over this phase of the problem in his report.

"Serious obstacles to effective criminal justice are also found in the defects of the criminal law itself," he said.

"I trust that no one will seek to prevent the enactment of these recommendations by shakeling my program with political considerations."

The people of New York state are not interested in the stimulation of political dispute."

The governor gave credit to his October crime conference and to its committee, to the attorney general, to legislators in both parties and to various commissions for some of the work in the report.

In recommending enlarged state agencies, the governor announced that part of the cost would be covered in his forthcoming budget message.

He will recommend increased budget allowance for additional staff members for the state division of parole, and for educational purposes in state institutions, he said.

As for the addition of 100 men to the state police, no recommendation for meeting the increased cost was contained in the message he sent to the legislature.

Among the lesser recommendations in the message are suggestions for tightening the law on concealed weapons, option legislation to permit counties over 50,000 population to consolidate all police units, compulsory fingerprinting of all misdemeanants, except traffic violators, continuance of the public enemy law to permit a jury to give a verdict with recommendation of execution in felony murder, making a life term mandatory, and laws to cope with ball bond and arson rackets.

Washington Cab-Drivers Prove
Plymouth Costs Less to Run

30% OF CABS OPERATING ON CAPITAL'S PHENOMENALLY LOW RATES ARE PLYMOUTHS

WASHINGTON, D. C., cab-drivers find rates extremely low.

DRIVER FINDS PLYMOUTH picked for economy.

PEOPLE LIKE CABS with the safety, comfort and smart appearance of big 1936 Plymouth.

Visitors to Washington marvel at the splendid taxicab service—and low rates. They see the high percentage of Plymouth cars in Washington's taxicab service. Regulations today show almost every third taxi is a Plymouth . . . and the number is increasing phenomenally.

Plymouth's economy is the answer . . . gas and oil economy . . . low upkeep cost . . . amazing ability to stand up under the grueling work of big-city taxicab service. General Manager Harry Wachter, of the City Cab Association—one of Washington's largest—says: "We find Plymouth has the operating economy necessary to give good cab service at Washington's low rates. More than half our cabs are Plymouths."

George Superintendent Reid, who estimates that City Cabs run up a yearly total of fourteen million miles, reports: "Our Plymouth drivers get around 18 miles to the gallon of gas—in city traffic."

In Washington, D. C., they know a Plymouth costs less to run. You can compare "All Three" . . . and find out for yourself about Plymouth's famous safety, reliability and economy . . . as well as economy!
